Dear Sam,

How are you? I hope this letter finds you well!

I would like to share a glimpse of my school days here in Russia with you. Every morning I ride my bike to school which is located a little bit far from my house. It takes me twenty minutes to get there. The classrooms are bright, decorated with works of art created by students just like me. We study a mix of subjects, from Literature to Mathematics, but my favorite one is definitely History. It feels like I'm traveling through time, discovering the stories of my country and the world around us.

School breaks are the best parts of the day! Once the bell rings, my friends and I rush out to the playground, where we play soccer or sometimes just chat about our favorite music and movies. I've introduced them to some cool English bands, and they've shared amazing Russian artists with me — it's like we're creating our own little cultural exchange! I love how our conversations often turn into friendly debates about what country has the best snacks or the greatest sports teams. It makes me realize that, despite our differences, we share so much in common.

As the school year goes on, I look forward to upcoming events, like our annual talent show and sports day. I'm planning on performing a short scene with my friends, and we're hoping it will make everyone laugh! Sometimes, I wonder what school is like for you in England. Do you have similar events? I can't wait to hear all about your school adventures and what life is like on your side of the world.

Write back soon!

Best wishes,

Alex

Dear Jake,

How are you doing? I hope you are well!

I just returned from an incredible trip to Moscow, and I can't wait to share my adventures with you. The first thing that struck me when I arrived was the sheer size and beauty of the city. The historic buildings, like the Kremlin and St. Basil's Cathedral, looked even more stunning in person than in pictures. I spent hours exploring Red Square, taking in the noisy atmosphere filled with locals and tourists alike. I even tried some traditional Russian food, like borsch and pelmeni, which were delicious and something I think you would enjoy!

One of my favorite experiences was visiting the Moscow Metro. Did you know that each station is like a hidden treasure? Some of them are decorated with incredible artworks and sculptures. I felt like I was stepping back in time as I rode the train through these beautifully decorated stations, which tell stories of Russian history and culture. I took a lot of photos that I can't wait to post them in my account! Plus, I met some friendly locals who gave me tips on the best spots to check out. Their kindness made my trip even more special.

Before I left, I made sure to visit Gorky Park, where I joined young people playing frisbee and enjoying the sunny weather. We laughed and played together, and it felt great to connect with new friends. I have so much more to tell you, and I hope to learn all about what you've been doing as well! Until then, I'm sending you a postcard with a picture of the beautiful Moscow skyline.

Can't wait to hear from you!

Best wishes,

Dima

Dear Judy,

How are things? I hope you enjoy this spring as much as I do!

I just returned from an incredible school trip to Lake Baikal, and I couldn't wait to share my experience with you! It was a journey that felt like stepping into a postcard, where the vast blue waters stretched endlessly beneath a clear sky. The scenery was breathtaking, with towering mountains surrounding the lake and the air filled with the scent of pine trees. You know how much I love nature; being there made me feel so alive and connected to the world around me.

However, the weather was a bit unpredictable, which made our adventure all the more exciting! While we initially enjoyed warm sunshine that made us willing to explore, a sudden rainstorm caught us by surprise on the second day. But instead of ruining our fun, it turned our hike into a memorable experience; we splashed in puddles and even spotted a double rainbow appearing between the clouds. The changing weather reminded me of how life can be full of surprises, and sometimes you just have to expect the unexpected.

The trip also brought us closer as friends, as we shared stories and laughter around a cozy campfire after our day's adventures. I loved learning about the unique flora and fauna of the region and even saw some Baikal seals! The cold weather at night made our marshmallows taste even sweeter, as we were lying together under blankets, discussing our dreams and plans for the future. I can't wait to hear about your own adventures and hope we can plan a trip together someday!

Take care and write back soon!

Warmly,

Sasha

Dear Emily,

How are you? I hope everything is going well with you!

I recently had the most exciting adventure that I simply must share with you. I visited our local planetarium last weekend, and it was such an incredible experience! The moment I stepped inside, I was transported into a world filled with stars, galaxies and fascinating cosmic phenomena. They had a stunning dome where they projected shows about the universe, and I felt like I was soaring through space. It was not only visually captivating but also incredibly informative; I learned so much about black holes and the life cycles of stars. I think I love astronomy since that time.

After the planetarium, my friends and I decided to take a walk in the nearby park. The weather was perfect, with a soft breeze and the sun shining warmly down on us. We chatted about the different planets that we'd seen and joked about what life might be like if we lived on Mars. As we walked, we shared our favorite moments from the show, and I couldn't help but admire the blooming flowers and the lush green trees around us. The park was filled with other teens enjoying the day, laughing and playing games, which made the atmosphere even more joyful.

I walked there for hours, lost in thought about the mysteries of the universe. It reminded me how brilliant the human brain is and how important science is for progress. I can't wait to hear about your latest adventures! Please write back soon and tell me everything that's happening with you. Your stories are always a great joy to read!

Dear Simon,

How is your summer going? I hope you enjoy every moment of it!

I just returned from an incredible trip to Paris this summer, and I can't wait to share my experiences with you. The moment I stepped off the train, I was greeted by the sweet aroma of fresh croissants and the sight of the Eiffel Tower sparkling under the summer sun. The city was bustling with energy, and I felt like I had entered a postcard. I spent my first day wandering the charming streets of Montmartre, where artists showcased their work and locals gathered in cosy cafés drinking coffee. Every corner seemed to tell a story, and I wished you had been there to experience it with me.

One of the highlights of my trip was visiting the Louvre Museum. I was in delight as I stood before the Mona Lisa; her enigmatic smile seemed to follow me everywhere I went. The museum itself felt like a work of art, with its glass pyramid structure contrasting beautifully with the historic buildings surrounding it. I also explored the incredible gardens of Versailles, where I pretended to be a prince wandering the lawns and admiring the ornate fountains. Each moment felt magical, and I couldn't help but take countless photos to remember every detail.

Of course, no trip would be complete without trying the local food! I tasted delicious pastries, savory pancakes and even tried escargot, which is translated as "snail" from French, at a charming little restaurant. I thought about how much you would have laughed watching me trying to eat them without grimacing! It was a summer I'll never forget, and I truly wish I could have shared it with you in person. I hope to hear about your adventures — whether it's about school, your friends or any plans you have for the summer.

Take care and write back when you can!

Best wishes,

Nikita

Dear Emma,

How are you? I hope this letter finds you well!

I can hardly wait to share my amazing adventure in Mexico with you. From the moment I stepped off the plane in Cancún, I felt the energy of the city surround me. The sun was shining brightly and the sky-blue sea sparkled like a thousand gems. I spent my days lounging on the warm sandy beaches, soaking up the sun and exploring ancient Mayan ruins. Visiting the city of Tulum was definitely the highlight, as I marveled at the breathtaking views of the cliffs and the sea, along with the fascinating history that surrounded me.

The food in Mexico was another incredible experience! I tried delicious street tacos filled with fresh avocado, juicy meat and spicy salsa. The flavors were out of this world — you would have loved them! I even tried making guacamole with a lovely local family who invited me to their home for dinner. It was so fun to learn about their culture while communicating through a mix of Spanish and gestures. They told me stories about their traditions and it reminded me of how much our cultures can teach us about family and friendship.

As my trip came to an end, I realized how much I had grown from this adventure. I made new friends, learned some Spanish and gained a newfound appreciation for the beauty of diverse cultures. I can't wait to tell you more about my experiences! I hope one day you can visit Mexico with me and we can explore its wonders together. Until then, I'm looking forward to hearing all about your life back in England.

Much love,
Bella

Dear Sarah,

How's your summer going? I believe everything is alright!

I'm excited to share my latest adventure with you as I explore the world of eco-tourism right here in Russia. Recently, I visited the beautiful Kamchatka Peninsula, known for its stunning landscapes and diverse wildlife. It was such an eye-opening experience to witness the breathtaking beauty of the volcanoes and hot springs while also learning about the importance of preserving these natural wonders. The guides were aimed at keeping ecological balance and responsible use of natural resources, reminding us that our actions have consequences on this delicate ecosystem.

During my trip I joined a group of like-minded teens who are passionate about protecting our planet. We participated in activities like planting trees and cleaning up local beaches, which helped me realize that even small actions can make a significant difference. I was especially inspired by a project where we learned about the local marine life in the Bering Sea. We were taken on a boat tour that allowed us to observe seals and puffins in their natural habitat. It was a magical experience, and it made me more determined to support saving the nature in my homeland.

Now that I'm back in my hometown, I can't wait to share what I've learned with my friends and family. Eco-tourism not only opened my eyes to the beauty of nature but also connected me to others who share similar values. I'd love to hear about your own experiences with nature and if you've tried any eco-friendly activities lately. Let's inspire each other to take action for our planet and create unforgettable memories doing so!

Missing you tons and looking forward to your reply!

Dear Robert,

It's been ages since we last spoke!

I wanted to share an exciting experience I recently had. Last weekend I participated in a local sports competition here in my hometown of Kazan — imagine me, sprinting down the track with my heart racing! The atmosphere was electric, with friends cheering and the smell of popcorn in the air. I took part in the 100-meter race. For weeks I had been training hard, waking up early to do my sprints in the park. And though I didn't win the first place, I felt a rush of adrenaline as I crossed the finish line, proud of my effort and the support of my teammates.

After the competition, my friends and I decided to celebrate by visiting a chocolate factory nearby. It was like stepping into a real-life Willy Wonka factory! The place was alive with the sounds of machinery and laughter, as workers skillfully made a variety of chocolates from classic bars to truffles. I couldn't believe my eyes as I watched giant tanks of silky chocolate being poured and mixed with nuts, fruits and even spices. We explored the process of chocolate-making, starting from the cocoa beans until they turned into delicious treats. As we moved through the different sections, I tasted samples of different chocolates. My favorite was a rich dark chocolate filled with creamy hazelnut — so yummy! I even bought some to share with my family, who were excited to taste the delights.

This weekend was truly unforgettable, from the thrill of the race to the sweetness of chocolate. I'd love to hear what you've been doing lately! Have you participated in any competitions or adventures?

Write back soon. I can't wait to hear your stories!

Best wishes,

Misha

Dear Andrew,

How are you and your family doing? I hope everything is okay.

I recently returned from an unforgettable adventure at the beach resort with my family, and I can't wait to share all the exciting details with you! The moment we arrived, the scent of salt in the air greeted us, and I felt a rush of excitement. The endless stretch of golden sand seemed to whisper promises of fun and adventure. We set up our beach umbrella in a cosy spot, and while my little sister splashed in the waves, my parents collected shells nearby. I even found a beautifully patterned sea shell that reminded me of the adventures we read about in books!

One of my favorite parts of the trip was going crabbing at sunset. With a bucket in one hand and a net in the other, we headed down to the rocky shore, where the tide was low. It felt like a scene from a treasure hunt! We laughed and raced around, trying to catch the quick crabs as they rushed between the rocks. After a couple of hours of hunting, we managed to catch a few! We ended the day by roasting some marshmallows by a beach bonfire and sharing scary stories under a sky filled with stars. It was one of those magical moments that you wish could last forever.

I also had the chance to meet some local kids who showed me the best surf spots and taught me how to ride the waves. It was tough at first, but with each wipeout, I felt more determined to get up and try again. By the end of the trip, I managed to ride a few small waves without falling!

I can't wait to hear about your summer adventures! Write back soon and tell me everything!

Dear Julia,

I hope this letter finds you at the best of spirits!

Recently I participated in a biology contest that I had been preparing for weeks. The theme was "The Wonders of Nature", and it allowed me to explore everything from ecosystems to the complicated roles that plants and animals play in our environment. I was nervous while presenting my project, but I received positive feedback from the judges. It was an exciting experience, and I felt so proud to show my passion for biology! Winning a prize would be amazing, but, honestly, just being part of such an inspiring competition was rewarding in itself.

Last weekend I was invited to a friend's birthday party, which turned out to be the highlight of my week! It was held at a local amusement park, and we spent the day riding roller coasters and playing games. We even had a delicious cake shaped like a giant dinosaur, which was perfect since we've both been interested in paleontology lately! I loved catching up with friends and celebrating. It reminded me how important it is to take breaks from studies; laughter and fun are just as important in life as academic achievements.

As I sit here writing to you, I'm thinking about how much these experiences shape who we are. Whether it's through pushing my limits in a contest or enjoying joyful moments with friends, each day brings something new. I would love to hear more about what you've been up to! Have you participated in any interesting events or celebrations lately? Writing to you always brightens my day, and I can't wait to share more stories.

Looking forward to your reply!

Best wishes,

Kate

Emily: Welcome! How are you finding it so far?

Jack: It's great! So much energy everywhere. I try to visit a new place every day, but I definitely get lost easily.

Customer 1: I haven't dared yet! It looks a bit terrifying from up there. How about you?

Customer 2: I overcame my fear! It's such a rush! You should definitely try it. The first drop is heart-stopping, but then it's just a great fun.

Customer 1: Alright, you have convinced me. I'll try later. What about the snack bar? Have you eaten anything?

Customer 1: Sounds delicious. I'll go there after my swim. Do you come here often?

Customer 2: Not really, but I come here some weekends. It's a nice break from the daily routine. How about you?

Customer 1: I try to come at least once a week. It's the best way to relax after a busy week. Plus, it is better than just sitting indoors.

Customer 2: Totally! And with summer just getting started, I can't think of a better way to spend my Saturdays.

Emma: Can you believe we're finally here, Jake? The circus! Look at those lights!

Jake: It's... definitely a new experience for me. I've never been to a circus before.

Emma: Oh, you will get a lot of pleasure! The acrobats, the clowns, the animals! It's pure magic!

Jake: I don't know, Emma. What if it's not as great as everyone says? What if the clowns are scary?

Emma: Trust me, clowns can be a bit silly at times, but they're all part of the fun! Plus, the jugglers and the tightrope walkers will blow your mind!

Jake: Tightrope walkers? I can't even walk straight on solid ground.

Emma: That's the beauty of it! They practice for years. Just wait until you see how graceful they are up there.

Jake: I guess that's one way to deal with fear of heights — balance on a tiny rope above the ground.

Emma: Exactly! And don't forget about the animals. I heard there's a lion tamer here. Imagine that!

Jake: A lion tamer? That sounds dangerous! What if the lion decides it's snack time?

Emma: That's the thrill! It's all part of the show. But I promise, they have a great bond with the animals.

Jake: Alright, I'll keep an open mind. Just promise me no surprises... like a clown popping out of nowhere!

Emma: I can't make any promises! But I guarantee you'll be entertained. Now come on, let's go find our seats!

Jake: Okay, lead the way! But if I scream during the lion act, you will buy me popcorn!

Now we are ready to start.

Teacher: Alright, everyone, let's take a moment to reflect on our science project. Lucy, could you share with the class what you found most interesting?

Lucy: Sure! I found it really cool how plants can communicate with each other through their roots. I didn't know they could do that!

Teacher: That's a fascinating topic, Lucy! It's amazing how interconnected nature is. What led you to explore that aspect of plant life?

Lucy: Well, I was curious about why my plants at home sometimes seem to blossom and other times not. Then I read about how they send signals to each other for help.

Teacher: That's a great example of curiosity leading to discovery! Do you think there are ways we can encourage our plants to grow better?

Lucy: Maybe if we put different plants together, they could help each other? I read that when a plant is under stress from pests, it can release chemicals that warn other plants. Those plants can then prepare their defenses.

Teacher: Exactly! That's called chemical signaling. It's like a community alert system for plants. It's a wonderful concept. Do you plan to include that in your project?

Lucy: Yes! I want to create a diagram showing how the signals work. But, I'm not sure how to illustrate the system of communication effectively.

Teacher: That's a great idea! You could use different colors for each plant and the roots. Also you could draw arrows to show the signals moving through the network.

Lucy: I like that idea! It will make it clearer. Thanks, Mrs. Johnson! I can't wait to get started.

Teacher: You're welcome, Lucy! I'm looking forward to seeing what you come up with. Remember to think about how you'll present your findings too.

Lucy: I will!

Teacher: And, everyone, don't forget: curiosity is the first step to learning. Let's all keep asking questions!

Mike: Yeah, those little guys are quite brave. They know people always have snacks. I think it has a secret place somewhere!

Emma: That would be funny! What do you think our pets would say if they could talk?

Mike: Maybe our cat Bella would tell me to stop picking her up so often. And our dog Charlie would probably ask for more treats... all the time!

Emma: Oh, definitely! And I am sure he would complain about how we never let him on the couch.

Mike: True, but think about it. If we let him on the couch, he would take over the whole place. And then we would have to fight for space!

Emma: The epic battle of the couch! Who would win, you or Charlie?

Mike: I think he would. He has that adorable look that always gets me.

Emma: Just like me, right?

Mike: Exactly like you! You both know how to work the cute factor to get what you want.

Emma: So, if I wanted ice cream right now...?

Mike: Alright, you win this round! Let's buy some ice cream after our walk.

Emma: Yay! You're the best! Dad, do you ever think about what you wanted to be when you were my age?

Mike: I wanted to be an astronaut, believe it or not. I loved the idea of space.

Emma: That's so cool! Why didn't you do it?

Mike: Life took me in another direction, but I still love teaching you about the stars. Do you remember our stargazing nights?

Emma: Of course! Can we do that again soon?

Mike: Definitely. And who knows, you might be the one who becomes the astronaut someday.

Tom: Excuse me, is that book in your hands the latest bestseller?

Maya: Oh, hi! Yeah, it is. "The Midnight Library". It's fascinating so far. Have you read it?

Tom: I wanted to! I heard great things about it. What do you think?

Maya: It's really thought-provoking. It's about choices and regrets, and how every decision creates a different version of your life. Quite deep, you know?

Tom: Sounds like something I could use right now. I have been stuck in my job for years, wondering what it would be like to take a risk and start fresh.

Maya: Really? Have you ever thought about what you'd want to do if you could change careers?

Tom: I've always had a passion for woodworking. I love creating furniture, but I never had the courage to do it full-time. What about you? What's your dream?

Maya: I'd love to travel and write. Documenting stories from different cultures. But, you know, it's tough to leave everything behind when you have bills to pay.

Tom: True. Sometimes, it feels safer just to stick with what you know.

Maya: Exactly! But I think we should at least explore those dreams for our own sake. What's stopping you from picking up woodworking again?

Tom: Time, mostly. Work takes up most of my days, and by the time I get home, I'm too exhausted.

Maya: What if you started small? Maybe one weekend project a month? You could take little steps to your dream.

Tom: That's a good idea! I could start with some simple projects. Who knows? Maybe it will lead to something more.

Maya: Yes! And I can promise you, it feels great to create something with your own hands.

Tom: You have convinced me! And who knows, maybe I can craft something for you one day!

Maya: I'd love that! And maybe I will write about it in one of my travels. Well, this is my stop. It was nice chatting with you. Good luck with your woodworking!
