Tony Smith

Once in a little town, there lived a cheerful boy named Tony Smith. He had short, curly hair and bright blue eyes. Tony liked to meet with his friends in the woods behind his house or race with them down the street. He was a good storyteller and often created tales of brave knights and sly dragons.

One sunny afternoon, Tony and his friends decided to build a secret fort in the woods using old blankets and colorful cushions. They worked together, laughing at Tony's stories. When the fort was ready, the children chose one boy to be a dragon. The dragon fought the other children who were knights. Time flew by, and before they knew it, the sun began to set, leaving a beautiful orange glow in the sky. The boys began to collect the blankets and the cushions quickly. They were in a hurry because their parents didn't know that they went to the woods. But they were happy because the day was like in a fairytale.

When Tony grew up and had his own children, he told them his stories, too. He remembered his happy childhood and that cheerful boy who made fairytales real for his friends.

Lily

Once upon a time in a little town, there lived a girl named Lily who always got into funny situations.

One day, while trying to bake a chocolate cake, she mistook salt for sugar. As a result her dessert was less "yummy" and more "yuck!" The whole kitchen was a disaster zone, with flour clouds and eggshells everywhere. Lily, however, only laughed, saying that she had cooked a new dish: salty chocolate surprise!

On another fine afternoon, Lily decided to become a superhero because her pet goldfish, Mr. Bubbles, needed saving from boredom. Lily made a cape from an old beach towel and a mask from a scarf. She took a bowl with Mr. Bubbles who became her superhero partner and went to the yard. There she tried to rescue a cat from a bee. Unfortunately, her high jumps and a loud scream scary the cat.

One sunny day, Lily decided to fly a kite. Only, instead of a real kite, she used her little brother's blanket! As she ran, the blanket hooked onto a passing dog. The dog was scared and ran quickly down the street and Lily ran after it. People who saw it tried to help poor dog and started to run after the dog, too. Best Friends

In a little town there lived a cat named Whiskers and a dog called Barkley. Whiskers liked to sleep lazily on the windowsill, dreaming about fish-flavored ice cream. Barkley believed that every passing butterfly was a potential best friend and spent his days running around the yard and barking at trees and flowers.

One fine day, when it was sunny and a little windy, Whiskers decided to challenge Barkley to a race across the garden. He said, "Who will be the last to reach a big oak tree is a rotten egg!" Barkley became excited at once and ran as quickly as he could. Whiskers took a moment to stretch and then rushed after the dog like a rocket. But just as the two pets were near the finish line, the garden hose started to work! It sprayed water everywhere and left both pets wet to the skin.

The race stopped, Barkley began to jump happily under the drops of water. He thought it was a new game. While Whiskers, who was surprised, slipped on the wet grass and landed right in the puddle. At first he didn't say a word but then he began to laugh out loud at himself — he was wet and muddy! Barkley heard his friend's laugh and tried to help him. But the dog slipped, too. Jerry White

Once upon a time there lived a man named Jerry White who had more jobs than a cat had lives. One sunny Tuesday morning, he decided to become a professional ice cream taster. He started to try many delicious ice creams. But then he realized that his throat was too cold. After he sneezed three times he understood that this job was a bad idea.

After a week of illness and many cups of hot tea with lemon, Jerry tried his luck at being a chicken dance instructor. "It is egg-citing!" he said. Soon every child in town wanted to do the chicken cha-cha. There were so many children that Jerry couldn't control the discipline. Everyone danced what they like. Jerry found himself at the centre of a chaotic chicken choreography with a lot of laugh.

Finally, Jerry decided to give up chicken dancing and became a teacher on making animals of stick-balloons! "What can go wrong?" he thought. But in his first class, he twisted a balloon into something that he said was an "elephant". In fact, it looked like a crazy giraffe. Every child in the classroom started to laugh out loud. Our Dad's Worst Day

Once my dad had decided that Saturday was a perfect day for a family picnic. He put big sandwiches into a basket and told our mum, my brother and me to be ready in 10 minutes. We jumped into the car and went to the nearest park. The day was sunny and we were going to play badminton.

When we came to the picnic place and took our food out an unpleasant thing happened. An army of pigeons which were fans of sandwiches, too, attacked our basket! Dad tried to protect the sandwiches but there were too many of the birds. We helped him and soon there were pieces of bread and feathers around. After 10 or 15 minutes the fight was over and the birds flew away. All the family sat down on the ground in a little shock. We looked at each other and suddenly began to laugh.

After some time my dad and brother decided to take rackets and to play badminton. As our dad hit the ball too hard, it flew far away and landed on the head of a very surprised park worker, who was cutting bushes. The next moment my brother and I started to laugh and couldn't stop. The scared pigeons flew up in the sky again. My dad said sorry many times but the park worker said nothing and just walked away.

Well, dad's worst day became the best family adventure!

Ted and His Dream

Once there lived a boy named Ted who dreamed about being a basketball star. He liked to watch a group of elder kids who played basketball on the sportsground. The sound of a bouncing ball, a squeak of sneakers on the court and joyful laughter made him excited. The boy decided that he wanted to learn how to play.

So Ted asked for an old basketball from his friend and began practising in his backyard. At first, it was difficult for him to lead the ball. The boy ran slowly because he had to watch the ball. Then he stopped opposite the basket and tried to find the best position to throw the ball. He couldn't get the ball into the basket again and again.

After two weeks of practice, Ted finally decided to ask the elder kids on the sportsground to teach him to play. He understood that he needed to learn to pass the ball. To his surprise, the kids welcomed him and shared some tricks of the game. Then they said that Ted should try to play in the team. The boy felt very shy but he agreed. A Kite-flying Competition

One Saturday a girl named Lily and her best friend, Max, decided to join a kite-flying competition. First of all, they wanted to create a colourful kite. It was a blue triangle with green, yellow and red circles. They took thin wooden sticks and colourful plastic bags. Then they made a frame of wooden sticks and cut a figure of a triangle and some circles. After that the children attached the figure to the frame and glued the circles on it. Finally, they fixed a long string to the kite.

On the day of the competition, the park was full of people. Lily and Max came with their kite which was flying above their heads. Suddenly Max felt that the string slipped through his fingers. The kite caught on a tree! Max tried to pull it down, then he threw little stones. It didn't help. At last one of the men climbed the tree and got the kite from it. The children were worried that they were late for the start of the competition and ran as quickly as they could.

Luckily, Lily and Max were in time to the signal to fly everyone's kite. They let the kite fly high in the sky and it was the brightest of all. The children got the first prize and cheerful compliments about their creation. It was the first time they took part in a competition. They were really proud of themselves!

Henry Brown

When Henry's family said that they were going to move to a new city, he felt sad. Henry imagined his summer holidays filled with baseball games in the park and ice cream cones from Jerry's Sweet Shop, not packing boxes and finding a new school. But when the moving truck came, Henry jumped in, leaving his old life behind.

On the first day in his new neighbourhood Henry saw a group of children playing baseball in the park. With a deep breath, he came up carrying a baseball bat on his shoulder. "Hi, may I join you in the game?" he asked. "Yeah! Do you play?" one boy answered. "Well, I was in a school baseball team". The children looked at each other. "Alright, let's play!" they agreed.

Henry ran to the centre of the field. One of the boys threw the ball and Henry hit it as hard as he could. Unfortunately, the ball flew too far, to one of a picnic table, and landed in the middle of a chocolate cake which one of families in the park had on their picnic table. The chocolate cream was everywhere: on the food, on the table, on the family...

Henry's face became as red as a tomato. He ran to the family to say sorry. The children followed him. The family was angry at first but the people were kind and forgave Henry. They invited all the children to have some cake with them.

A. Why did the boy feel sad at the beginning of the story?

- 1) He had to play baseball in the park.
- 2) He had to move to a new city.
- 3) He had to eat ice cream from Jerry's Sweet Shop.

C. Choose the true sentence.

- 1) Henry played baseball in a school team.
- 2) The children in the park didn't want to play with Henry.
- 3) Henry didn't have his own baseball bat.

D. Why did the children stopped playing baseball?

- 1) One of the families in the park invited them to eat chocolate cake.
- 2) Henry couldn't hit the ball.
- 3) The ball flew too far away.

E. Why did the children follow Henry?

- 1) They wanted to say sorry.
- 2) They wanted to eat a chocolate cake.
- 3) They wanted to watch an angry family.

A New Hobby

In a small town fourteen-year-old Mia felt bored with her routine. School was fine, her friends were great but she dreamt of something new.

One sunny afternoon she was doing the cleaning in the attic of her old house. Suddenly she found a dusty box. Mia opened it and discovered her grandmother’s long-forgotten collection of watercolors and brushes. She also pulled out a piece of canvas. “Maybe I can try painting!” she thought.

That evening Mia set up a stand with canvas in her room and started to paint. At first, her pictures looked like children’s drawings. Mia understood that she wanted to paint like a professional artist. So she joined an art school. There she learnt to blend colors, create shadows and even experiment with different styles.

Mia’s love for painting grew. She painted landscapes, portraits of her friends and most of all she liked to paint animals. She went to the zoo at weekends and spent hours sitting on a bench in front of the cages. When she revealed her artwork at the school art fair, everyone was amazed at her realistic illustrations. For Mia, painting wasn’t just a hobby — it was a way to show her love to the nature.

A. What do you know about the girl?

- 1) She studied bad at school.
- 2) She didn’t have friends.

Hi, mum. This is Nick. I'm at the sports centre and I'm going to have a basketball training. I don't miss basketball lessons, so I think I will show good results. After the training, I am going to have a Music lesson. I like this subject very much. I think we will learn a new song for a coming holiday. By the way, we will have a new English teacher tomorrow. His name is Daniel Green. I hope he will not give us too many poems to learn. In the evening I want to go to the cinema with my classmate Ben to watch a new film. I'll come home at 6 p.m. and I'll do my homework after having dinner.

Hi, Lucy. This is Kate. I'm at the shopping centre and I'm going to buy a new dress. Can you help me to choose? There is a long red dress and a short black one. They look really beautiful. By the way, let's meet in the city centre in the evening. My mum tells that a new café will open. They will give free ice cream and make a flesh mob. I hope Jack and Ben will join us. Also we can walk in the park and have a picnic. The weather will be warm, so we don't need jackets. Jack will take a guitar with him and we can sing our favourite songs.

Hi, dad. This is Helen. I'm at the art school and I'm going to have a drawing lesson. We usually draw fruits but today the teacher is going to teach us to draw the nature. I think we will start with drawing a tree. I like these lessons very much but I would like to try to play a musical instrument. My friend Mary plays the piano and I would like to play the guitar. By the way, we will go to the museum with our teacher tomorrow. We will meet at school and then go by bus. At the museum they will tell us about kings and queens and show their portraits. I hope I will learn a lot of things for my school project. I'll come home at 7 p.m. and then I want to watch my favourite film in the Internet.

Hi, Kevin. This is Andy. I'm in the country now and I'm having a rest with my family. We will spend a week here. My brother Mike says it is boring in the country. He can't play his favourite online games and he misses his friends. But I think it is fun here because I swim in the lake every day. The lake is clean and it has sand on one side. In the afternoon it is very hot. I prefer to stay at home and watch TV or listen to music. Sometimes I read. You know, I like reading fantasy about dragons and magicians. In the evening my family and I have dinner in the garden. We talk about plans for the future and dad tells stories about his childhood. After dinner we play boardgames: cards or monopoly.

Hi, granny. This is Wendy. I'm at the zoo and I'm watching the animals. I am with my teacher and classmates. We can see a lot of exotic animals: a lion, a kangaroo, an elephant, a leopard, a hippo. Most of all I like the monkeys because they look like children. Also we can see forest animals and many birds. I have some cabbage and carrots to feed the animals. My friend Sarah is interested in snakes. I don't really like them. By the way, we are going to have lunch in the café. We will take a pizza and lemonade. After lunch we are going to watch a dolphin show. They will jump and play with a ball. The show will last for half an hour. I hope I can take a photo with the dolphins. We will go home at 3 p.m. by school bus.

Hi, sister. This is Phil. Do you remember my friend Jack? He will have a birthday party on Sunday and he invites you and me to come. Let's buy him a present together. As I know he is interested in playing computer games. We can choose a new computer mouse or headphones for him. Also he likes skateboarding. I think he will be happy to get a new helmet. By the way, he asks to take a swimsuit. He has a big swimming pool in the garden. Jack will also order some pizza and burgers. Jack's brother has a band and they will play their music at the party. In the evening our dad can take us home by car.

Hi, Kate. This is Jane. I'm very happy because my parents are going to buy me a puppy! It is my dream to have a little friend. Now I'm surfing the Internet to choose things for a puppy. I think I should buy a lead, two plates for food and water, some toys and a basket. My mum says that I must walk my puppy in the morning and in the evening. I am ready to get up early every day. Also I will feed the puppy three times a day. My parents will buy special dog food. You know, my dad is not really happy about the puppy. He says that it can come to beds with its dirty legs. But I am going to wash his legs after every walk. I hope, Kate, you will come to my place to play with my puppy, too.

Hi, Bill. This is Tony. I'm at home and I'm ill today. I'm sorry but I can't come to play football with you. I have got a high temperature and a cough. The doctor says that I have a cold. I should take aspirin and stay in bed. By the way, can you send me the home task, please? When I feel better, I will write my homework. There is one good thing. My parents are at work and my granny takes care of me. And she cooks everything I like – some pies and my favourite chicken soup. I think I will stay at home for a week. I'm going to watch videos in the Internet or listen to music. I want to post a photo of me but my mum says no because it is not nice. I hope you will visit me tomorrow.

Hi, Sam. This is Fred. I'm in our new flat. As you know, we are going to move next week and now we are doing the cleaning. My mum is washing a kitchen. It is big and light. There is a new gas cooker, a fridge and a dish washer in the kitchen. My dad is in the living room. It is big and cosy, too. We will gather in the living room in the evenings and watch TV together. My sister Nancy is cleaning her future room. It is bigger than my room because girls always want a big wardrobe for clothes. And I am in my own future room. It is rather small but I like it because my window faces the garden. There is a bed, a desk, a bookcase and a small wardrobe in my room. I invite you to come to my place when we move.

Hi, mum. This is Violet. I'm at the supermarket and I'm going to buy some products. I remember you are going to cook fish soup. So I will buy some fish and potatoes. I think you should add some tomatoes. Also there is bread, milk and eggs in the shopping list. By the way, my friend Helen will come on Saturday. I need to buy some sweets and tea. She will tell about her new work. You can join us if you want. Dad will not be at home on that day. He is going to meet with his boss and discuss a new project. I hope it will not take too much time. And in the evening we can have a walk in the park. The weather will be warm and we can sit on the bench.
